

CEAUP , UNINORTE and AgroSMARTcoop are organizing on September 1st the International Seminar “The Cooperative movement and the Agricultural Cooperatives – Paths towards a wider cooperation”.

The Seminar will count with the presence of several officials of African agricultural cooperatives and will focus on:

- setting the bases for a wider 2019 International Conference of African Agricultural Cooperatives to foster the debate among cooperative officials and researchers;
- accessing the main achievements of the African Agricultural Cooperatives during the last decade;
- listing the main problems and gaps to be fulfilled by the international cooperative movement;
- how to achieve a wider circulation of goods and ideas among, to and from the African Agricultural Cooperatives;
- how to increase the role of information technology in cooperative development,
- finding ways of fundraising and of applying to international funding.
